Last updated: October 30, 2023

In Short

Just1Task does not collect any personal data. When you use Just1Task you do not create an account or login. You never give us your name, address, phone number, or any other personal data. We don't track your usage of Just1Task in any way.

Just1Task gives you the option of using Push Notifications to set reminders. The app only collects enough data required to show you those reminders.

We do use service providers to show advertisements if you are using the free version of Just1Task. Just1Task also offers a paid upgrade which removes ads. We use a service provider to manage the collection of that one-time payment.

The rest of this document repeats the information above, but using standard boilerplate language written by an attorney.
